Johnny “Red” Kerr Memorial Scholarship

This scholarship aims to recognize men who have displayed outstanding leadership throughout their high school career and who will be entering their first year at the University of Illinois. This scholarship is named for Johnny “Red” Kerr, Professional Basketball Player, former coach and color commenter of the Chicago Bulls, and brother of Phi Kappa Psi at the University of Illinois. Johnny was known as a well rounded individual and this scholarship aims to reward young men who exemplify many of his characteristics. The scholarship is awarded on an annual basis. We will be accepting applications beginning June 1, 2009. Thank you for your interest in Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity’s Johnny “Red” Kerr Memorial Scholarship.

The award amounts for the scholarship are as follows:

1st Place - $1,000

2 Runners Up - $250 each

Application deadline: Postmarked by August 1, 2009

Please fill in the information below. By applying for or receiving this scholarship, you are not committing yourself to membership in Phi Kappa Psi fraternity or any other organization on campus. All finalists will be contacted shortly after the due date.
